

C'mon, let's Moli.

Introducing the easy, faster way for your members to send money to friends, family and everyone else from a mobile device.

Looking for a competitive advantage?

We've got one that can be up and running before the close of business. Moli is a quick, easy, and affordable mobile payments platform, enabling financial institutions like yours to offer essential mobile P2P payments that process transactions in mere seconds. And that means your members can now split lunch checks, pay for everyday services and share what we call Moli Moments with the people that matter to them.

Leveraging an innovative SaaS, stateless, and serverless platform makes deploying mobile solutions a breeze including a simple onboarding process. Moli also removes limitations for financial institutions, giving you the option to offer members access to the latest in mobile payments technology. Moli offers the choice of mobile payment solutions for using same-day ACH and debit rails keeping your members' deposits at your credit union, protected in their existing account.

P2P helps you meet the challenge face to face.

Since the pandemic, mobile P2P solutions have grown exponentially—much faster than the industry could respond to. That’s why most options are still costly. Or worse, they are made up of non-FI mobile banking apps which are about as safe as you would think or fear. This rush of P2P options has not only pushed your members outside of the security of your FI, but it has also taken money from your institution.
